Season in London for Metropolitan Opera Company

Arrangements Being Made for Six Weeks' Stay There Next Spring.

Edward Ziegler, administrative secretary of the Metropolitan Opera Com-pany, will sail for England on August 4 to make final arrangements for the appearance in London of the company from the Metropolitan Opera House there next apring. Operas sufficient to constitute a epertoire for a season of six weeks will be prepared for transfer to London and there given exactly as they are performed at the Metropolitan, with the same singers, orchestra and decorations. Mrs. Arthur H. Masten is passing the There are many artists in the pany who are new to London or have not appeared there during recent seasons. Among these are Mr. Caruso and Mmos. Farrar, Matzenauer and Ponselle as well as MM. Martinelli, de Luca and a number of the men singers who came here directly from Italy without stop-ping as they did in the old days to make a reputation in London, Giulio Gatti-Casazza and the directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company also are at present proud of the uncommonly fine manner in which the operas are mounted here now and London will have an op-portunity to see some of the work of Joseph Urban and his associates in the decorations at the Metropolitan.

Whether the senson will take place at Covent Garden or at the London Opera. House has not yet been definitely setden will be the scene of the engagement. Mrs. Andrew M. Moreland of Pittsburg. The first performance will be given as soon after the close of the performances at Atlanta, Ga., as possible.

A Notable New Book on Auction

MASTER AUCTION

By Florence Irwin

Here is a work on advanced auction by one of the leading authorities of this country. If you do not play auction, this is not the book for you. Again, if you know the rudiments and the routine of the game and are contented never to learn any more, this is not the book for you. But if you are ambitious and eager to achieve perfection-to keep pace with the latest discussions-to study the illustrations of various subtle and tricky plays, then this is
